February 2010

An Invitation

Who and what surround you speaks volumes.

Philosophers as old as the hills have advised people to surround themselves with beauty, with trust, with love and with wisdom. Today's message is still the same, to live your best life, surround yourself with family, friends, hope, smart people, possibility, positive influences, vision and inspiration.

Well in Spanish Fork, you're surrounded by it all. Here, we have caring neighborhoods, welcoming friends, progressive technology, endless recreational opportunities, and legendary community spirit.

These qualities create the place we call home and provide us with so many great things. We invite all to surround themselves with Spanish Fork. Whether it is at a ballgame or at a school play, shopping or eating in town, walking around the block or surfing the Internet or caring for a neighbor or taking care of a flower garden.

The good life is here in Spanish Fork; the people and the possibilities await you. All you have to do is surround yourself with them.

Surround yourself. That is the message that the Spanish Fork City Council wants to share with the world. In 2008, the Council authorized an in depth community research and branding process to begin. The City hoped to gain a deeper insight into who we are as a community and how we can share that message.

Spanish Fork City will begin rolling out many new activities, communication pieces, visual elements and programs designed to promote a common theme in the community: an invitation to surround yourself.

Prescription Drug Disposal at the Justice Center

Unused medications, improperly disposed of, can harm you and the environment. When drugs are flushed down the toilet or dumped down a drain, they are not completely removed by the wastewater treatment process or septic tank systems and can enter the soil, surface water and groundwater. Additionally, drugs can be scavenged and illegally sold or accidentally found and consumed by children or animals

Abuse of prescription drugs, particularly painkillers, has increased among teenagers and young adults. Sixty percent of the persons who abuse painkillers indicated that they received the drugs free from friends or relatives.

In order to assist the public, the Spanish Fork Police Department has established a proper disposal program. Bring your unused prescription and over-the-counter medications for disposal to the Justice Center during normal business hours:

789 West Center Street, Spanish Fork;
Monday - Friday 8:00 am - 5:00 pm.
